Description of the activity:

Embark on a horseback journey along ancient paths and trails, used by generations. Discover traces of prehistoric settlements, rock carvings, and other evidence of the region's history. These archaeological sites offer a fascinating pause in the journey, allowing you to immerse yourself in the connection between humans and nature over the centuries.

The varied terrain creates an exciting experience for both riders and horses, with challenging ascents and descents.

As you progress, you'll encounter crystalline streams and small waterfalls, providing a perfect break to connect with the surroundings and allow the animals to cool off.

The journey concludes upon returning to Lobios, leaving you with unforgettable memories of a horseback experience in the Xurés Natural Park, blending outdoor adventure with the history and culture of the Geodestination.
